Director and Directors' Interests

Options under the Share Option Scheme 1985 are exercisable normally between three and ten years after the date of grant, subject to the achievement of pre-determined increases in profit before taxation per ordinary share in respect of each option. No new options were capable of grant under this scheme after February 1995. These options are exercisable up to April 2004.

Options under the Executive Share Option Scheme (1990) are exercisable normally between five and seven years after the date of grant. They are not exercisable, however, unless the average growth in earnings per ordinary share over a period of five financial years of Tarmac plc during the currency of the option has been sufficient to place Tarmac Plc in the top quartile of companies comprising the FT-SE 100 Share Index by reference to growth in earnings per share over the same period. This scheme has now been discontinued. These options are exercisable up to April 2001.

Options granted under the Executive Share Option Scheme 1994 are exercisable normally between three and ten years after the date of grant if, over any three year period during the currency of the option, the total shareholder return on ordinary shares is equal to or exceeds the percentage change over the same period in the total return for the FT-SE 100 Share Index. Options under the scheme are normally granted annually, in tranches which vary according to the executive grade of each grantee, up to a maximum subscription cost of four times salary. Thus, each Scheme member's maximum possible allocation is accumulated over a period of several years. These options are exercisable up to October 2007.

Options under the employee Savings-Related Share Option Scheme (1990) are linked with savings contracts having either a three or five year term. They are exercisable normally during the period of six months following the third or fifth anniversary, as appropriate, of the commencement of the associated savings contract. These options are exercisable up to February 2003.

The market price of the ordinary shares at 31 December 1997 was 114.5p and the range during the year was 94p to 133.5p per ordinary share.

Directors' Responsibilities

Company law requires the directors to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of the company and of the profit or loss for that period. In preparing those financial statements, the directors are required to:-

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgement and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state where applicable accounting standards have been followed, subject to any materials departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the company will continue in business.

The directors are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the company and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 1985. They have general responsibility for taking such steps as are reasonably open to them to safeguard the assets of the company and to prevent and detect fraud and other irregularities.
