The directors present their annual report and audited financial statements of the company for the year ended 31 March 2013. This report has been prepared in accordance with the special provisions relating to small companies within Part 15 of the Companies Act 2006.

Principal activities and business review

The principal activity of the company continues to be the letting of business accommodation to other members of The Economist Group and to outside tenants. The directors expect that the present level of business activity will be sustained for the foreseeable future.

The directors have reviewed the going concern status of the company by considering the confirmation of support from The Economist Newspaper Limited. Based on this review the directors have concluded the preparation of the financial statements under the going concern basis should be used.

Under company law the directors must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the company and of the profit or loss of the company for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the directors are required to

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently,
- make judgements and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent,
- state whether applicable UK Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements,
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the company will continue in business.

RYDER STREET PROPERTIES LIMITED

As explained more fully in the Statement of Directors' Responsibilities set out on page 2 to 3, the directors are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view. Our responsibility is to audit and express an opinion on the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland). Those standards require us to comply with the Auditing Practices Board's Ethical Standards for Auditors.

Scope of the audit of the financial statements

An audit involves obtaining evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements sufficient to give reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement, whether caused by fraud or error. This includes an assessment of whether the accounting policies are appropriate to the company's circumstances and have been consistently applied and adequately disclosed, the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by the directors, and the overall presentation of the financial statements. In addition, we read all the financial and non-financial information in the financial statements and report of the Directors to identify material inconsistencies with the audited financial statements. RYDER STREET PROPERTIES LIMITED

Notes to the financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2013

1 Accounting policies

(a) Basis of accounting

The financial statements are prepared on a going concern basis, under the historical cost convention in accordance with the Companies Act 2006 and applicable accounting standards in the United Kingdom. Notwithstanding the fact that the company has net current liabilities the directors believe it is appropriate to prepare the accounts on a going concern basis as The Economist Newspaper Limited has confirmed that it will provide financial support as necessary to meet liabilities as they fall due for a period of at least 12 months from the date of signing the financial statements. The principal accounting policies, all of which have been applied consistently, are set out below.

(b) Turnover

Turnover comprises gross rental income receivable for the year but excludes service charge income which is deducted from the related expenses. All amounts are stated exclusive of value added tax. All amounts originate in the UK.

(c) Leasehold properties

The company's short leasehold properties are historically owned by the company to accommodate group companies and accordingly are not regarded as investment properties as defined by Statement of Standard Accounting Practice 19 'Accounting for investment properties'.

(d) Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are included at historic cost less accumulated depreciation. The long leasehold property and leasehold improvements, which includes the Economist Complex, and fixtures, fittings and equipment, are included at cost and depreciated over the remaining life of the lease. Cost includes purchase price and costs attributable in bringing the asset to its working condition. The cost of leasehold improvements includes directly attributable finance costs. Refurbishment expenditure on the complex is depreciated from the date of first use on a straight-line basis over the following estimated useful lives:

Leasehold and property improvements	20 to 125 years
Fixtures, fittings and equipment	3 to 10 years

(e) Taxation

Current tax is provided at amounts expected to be paid (or recovered) using the tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date.

(f) Deferred taxation

Deferred taxation is fully provided, using the liability method, at the expected applicable rates, on all timing differences between accounting and taxation treatments, which are expected to reverse in the foreseeable future.

No provision is made for any additional taxation which would arise on the remittance of profits retained, where there is no intention to remit such profits. A deferred tax asset is only recognised to the extent that it is more likely than not that there will be taxable profits from which the future reversal of the timing differences can be deducted.

(g) Leased assets

Where the company has entered into finance leases, the obligations to the lessor are shown as part of creditors and the corresponding assets are treated as tangible fixed assets. Depreciation is calculated in order to write off the amounts capitalised over the lower of the estimated useful lives of the assets and the term of the lease, in equal annual instalments. Rentals payable under finance leases are apportioned between capital and interest, the interest portion being charged to the profit and loss account and the capital portion reducing the obligations to the lessor.

Rentals under operating leases are charged on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

(h) Cash flow statement

The company is owned through a wholly owned subsidiary of The Economist Newspaper Limited, and the cash flows of the company are included in the consolidated group cash flow statement of The Economist Newspaper Limited. Consequently, the company is exempt under the terms of FRS 1 (revised 1996) 'Cash flow statements' from publishing a cash flow statement.

(i) Related party transactions

As the company is owned through a wholly owned subsidiary of The Economist Newspaper Limited, the company has taken advantage of the exemptions contained in FRS 8 'Related party disclosures' and has therefore not disclosed transactions or balances with entities which form part of the Group. There were no other related party transactions in the year (2012: £nil).

(j) Pension costs

The cost of providing pensions under the defined contribution scheme is charged against profits as contributions become payable.
