Going Concern

In early 2020 there was an outbreak of Coronavirus Disease 2019 ("COVID-19" or "the coronavirus"). There have been unprecedented measures put in place by governments across the globe to contain the coronavirus which have had a significant impact on the economy.

The Company has assessed the impact of COVID-19 on the business, the financial report, and the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Based on the financial position of the Company for the year ended 31 December 2019 the directors are satisfied that the Company has sufficient available resources to enable the Company to meet their financial obligations as and when they fall due for a minimum period of twelve months from the date of signing these financial statements despite economic uncertainties arising as a result of the outbreak of coronavirus. For this reason, the directors consider it appropriate to prepare the financial statements on a going concern basis.

(b) Changes in accounting policies, new and amended standards and interpretations

Changes in accounting policies, new and amended standards and interpretations

The accounting policies adopted are consistent with those of the previous financial period.

From 1 January 2019, the Company has adopted the IFRS 16 Leases standard. The adoption of the new standard does not have any impact on the financial statements of the Company.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (continued)

(c) Other Receivables

Other receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. Other receivables are recognised initially at fair value. After initial measurement, other receivables are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate (EIR) method, less impairment if any. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in finance income in the statement of comprehensive income.

(d) Intangible assets

Radio licence

The radio licence is recorded at cost less accumulated amortisation and impairment. Amortisation is charged on a straight line basis over its estimated useful life of 20 years. Commercial radio licenses are renewable every five years under the provisions of the Broadcasting Services Act 1992. At this time the Directors believe that the conditions for renewal of the licence will continue to be satisfied. The Directors have considered the commercial and technical factors likely to impact on the useful life of the radio licence, and consider the radio licence to have a useful life of 20 years, however, from time to time, the remaining useful life is reassessed on the basis of the directors' expectations. It is assessed for impairment annually, or when there is an indication that the licence might be impaired.

(e) Other payables

Other payables are recognised initially at fair value. After initial recognition, other payables are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the EIR method. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the liabilities are derecognised as well as through the EIR amortisation process.

Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortisation is included in finance costs in the statement of comprehensive income.

(f) Revenue recognition

Revenue from an agreement to use the radio licence is recognised by reference to the use of the asset under the contract, set at a predetermined rate based on the revenues earned by the party to the contract.

(g) Taxes

Current income tax

Current income tax assets and liabilities for the current period are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authority. The tax rate and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Current income tax relating to items recognised directly in equity, is recognised in equity and not in the statement of comprehensive income. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in the tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulations are subject to interpretation and establishes provisions where appropriate.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided using the liability method on temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date.

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are recognised for all deductible and taxable temporary differences and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses, except in respect of taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, when the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future.

Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilised.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current income tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

3. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS, ESTIMATES AND ASSUMPTIONS

The preparation of the Company's financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the accompanying disclosures, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets or liabilities affected in future periods.

Estimates and assumptions

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are described below. The Company based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising beyond the control of the Company. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur.

Taxes

Uncertainties exist with respect to the interpretation of complex tax regulations, changes in tax laws, and the amount and timing of future taxable income. Given the wide range of international business relationships and the long-term nature and complexity of existing contractual agreements, differences arising between the actual results and the assumptions made, or future changes to such assumptions, could necessitate future adjustments to tax income and expense already recorded. The Company establishes provisions, based on reasonable estimates, for possible consequences of audits by the tax authority. The amount of such provisions is based on various factors, such as experience of previous tax audits and differing interpretations of tax regulations by the Company and the responsible tax authority.

15. EVENTS AFTER THE BALANCE SHEET DATE

COVID-19

As at 31 December 2019, a limited number of cases of an unknown virus had been reported to the World Health Organization. However, in early 2020 there was an outbreak of Coronavirus Disease 2019 ("COVID-19" or "the coronavirus"). There have been unprecedented measures put in place by governments across the globe to contain the coronavirus which have had a significant impact on the economy.

Management continues to consider the potential implications of coronavirus, which may include reductions in revenue, delays and risk to receipt of receivables and reductions in profitability. However, at this stage the financial impact of the virus is not able to be estimated due to the general level of uncertainty.
